SEPTEMBER 9, 1756. [Numb. 1159.]

SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.

We have the following Relation from Albany, of the Engagement between our Batteremen near Capt. Bradstreet, and the French regular Troops, Canadians and Indians, viz.

"THAT the battoes were returning in a dispersed manner from Oswego. That about 50 of our battoes that were foremost were attacked by the enemy from the East side of the river, about 10 or 11 miles from Oswego, who killed several of our people and took their battoes, in which about 300 of the enemy crossed over to the West side of the river. That when capt. Bradstreet came up with a few battoes, where the rest of the enemy were posted on the East side of the river, they fired upon him. Some other battoes soon came up and joined him. He went upon an island near the West shore, where the enemy's fire wounded several of his men. The battoes still coming up, capt. Bradstreet's party increased to about 200 men. The enemy made 3 attempts to ford the river, in order to attack Mr. Bradstreet, but were each time beat back with loss. Their fire then ceased, and capt. Bradstreet judging they were gone to the upper or lower ford, in order to get over there, he sent orders to the officers of the batteremen, who were near the lower ford, to defend that post, and he at the same time landed with the 200 men, and proceeded forwards along the river side, in order to obstruct the enemy's landing at the upper ford. Before he could take post there, the 300 of the enemy, who had crossed in our battoes, and were marching to attack us, met capt. Bradstreet and his party. They were very near together before they discovered each other. They engaged, and after they had fired on each other for some time, capt. Bradstreet ordered his men to give a huzza, and rush upon the enemy, which they did, and put them to flight. The enemy took to the river, where our people kept firing upon them, and killed great numbers.

The enemy, who remained on the East side of the river, after they had been 3 times repulsed by our people, in endeavouring to ford over, made no further attempts, and did not appear in the action, seeing our battoes coming up the river in such numbers. The prisoner says, there were about 600 Regulars and Canadians, and about 100 Indians. We have taken near 100 arms, two prisoners, and a great many packs of the enemy's.

The Declaration of a Person belonging to the Marine Companies, taken Prisoner the 3d of July, 1756, by Capt. Bradstreet commanding near the Oswego Falls.

"Declares, That in August, 1750, he embarked at Bourdeaux with about 1500 of the marine, and landed at Quebec. That from that time he has been in several of their garisons, and lastly in Montreal; from which place he embarked the 17th of May last, with about 900 Canadians, and 110 of the marine, under the command of capt. Vielieu; that they stop'd 3 days at La Galette, and proceeded afterwards to La Bonloovers, on the East side lake Ontario, 9 leagues beyond Cataraqui, and 15 leagues from Oswego.

"That they landed the 29th of May, and 3 days afterwards were joined by 200 Indians, and marched the next day with an intention to cut off the convoy with provisions from Albany; but the Indians refusing to go with them to Oswego falls, they agreed to go to fort Ontario, opposite to Oswego, where they attacked and demolished a serjeant's guard, and took a corporal prisoner; and after firing at the fort and town, they retired to the river La Planche, and next day to their camp, 15 leagues from Oswego, where all their Indians except 15 left them. There they rested 8 days; and being joined by 100 Indians of different nations, they marched a body consisting of 500 Canadians, 90 of the Marine, and 100 Indians, who on the 3d attacked capt. Bradstreet's command, on his return, near the Oswego Falls, where he was taken prisoner, and can give no satisfactory account of that skirmish.

"The prisoner says, that the French have 5 vessels on the lake, besides one of 20 guns, which was launched a few weeks ago; that their small craft are boats that can row with 14 oars, and carry upwards of 20 men, with a considerable quantity of provisions.

"That the regiment of La Sarre, and the regiment Royal Rousillion, computed at about 600 each, together with about 1500 marines, arrived about 6 weeks ago at Quebec, that the full of these battalions was sent to Crown Point, the other to Cataraqui, and the Marines into different garisons.

"That Frontenac is strongly fortified, with stone wall's That La Galette is only 4 block houses, with a weak garrison. That when he passed Niagara in August last, escorting provisions to fort Du Quesne, Niagara was then in a weak and ruinous condition, but that since it is much enlarged, and fortified by forts on each side, with a numerous garison.

"That fort Du Quesne is a small but well built fort, with wood and earth, a large ditch round it, and well palisado'd."

Williamsburgh, July 9. By an express from Lunenburgh, we learn that the Indians, to the number of about 100, attacked a fort on Holston's river, in Augusta county, where was one Vaux and his family, with some other persons, who defended themselves the greatest part of the day; but in the evening the Indians found means to set it on fire, and burnt it to the ground, in which 28 people perished.

Boston, July 19 By letters from Albany we learn, that all the provincial troops, under the command of general Winslow, at the Half Moon, decamped the 12th instant, and marched for lake George with 130 teams of oxen, 6 oxen to a team, 500 waggons, and 60 spare horses, with whale boats and batteaus innumerable

New York, July 26. With the earl of Loudon, arrived his excellency Thomas Pownall, Esq; to succeed general Shirley, as commander in chief in the government of the Massachusetts Bay; and is to attend his lordship as his agent for his majesty's affairs.

We hear, that before his excellency governor Hardy embarked for Albany, he left a number of blank commissions behind him, signed, for the use of the privateers.

On friday last a French prize ship, called the Centaur, Monsr. Bellargier, commander, was sent in here by the Nightingale man of war. She took her the 7th instant, and was bound from Martinico to Bourdeaux, laden with sugar, cotton and coffee: She is near 350 tons burthen, pierced for 20 guns, and had 30 men. The Nightingale chased her for 14 hours, in which time she threw over board 6 of her cannon; she is valued at 20,000l. There was a Danish ship in company with her.

Letter from Albany, dated July 18.

"This morning the last division of the provincial forces marched out of town for the forts towards Crown Point: And General Abercrombie's regiment is gone to Oswego.

"Our accounts from Oswego are, That 14 of col. Bradstreet's men, who were missing in the action on the 3d instant, got safe to that fort; and that a detachment was sent out, but got to the place of action too late to be of any service. That the next day another detachment, with 2 captains and 9 Subalterns, were were ſent down to reconnoitre the woods, and found numbers of the dead bodies of the enemy, as alſo ſome of their muſkets, blankets, &c.—And it is thought we have got near 100 of their muſkets: This laſt detachment, while they were out, took a Frenchman priſoner, who had been in the action.

A Letter from Oſwego, dated July 13.

"Col. Bradſtreet, in his engagement the 3d inſt. had 15 men killed, and about 24 wounded, and his party killed of the enemy we ſuppoſe 70 or 100, as 70 odd of their arms were found by our detachments, which, joined to thoſe found by col. Bradſtreet's men, denote a conſiderable ſlaughter. As a reinforcement to Bradſtreet was neceſſary, 200 men were diſpatched from here to aſſiſt; but found no enemy when we arrived at the place of action, they having gone, we imagine, to Frontenac.

Philadelphia, July 29. On thurſday laſt the general aſſembly of of this province adjourned to the 16th of next month.

The next day his honour the governor, attended by ſome members of his council, and of the aſſembly, and a number of other gentlemen, ſet off for Eaſton, to hold a conference with the Delaware king Teedyuſcung, and ſome Suſquehannah Indians.

A letter from Antigua, dated the 6th inſtant, ſays, "On the 4th inſt. the Bradford man of war brought in a large Bourdeaux man."

And from Barbados there is advice that capt. Falkingham, in one of our ſhips of war, has taken a ſnow from the ſame place, bound to Martinico.

Halifax, July 3. Laſt ſaturday his majeſty's ſhip Success, capt. Rous, with the Baltimore ſloop of war, arrived here from the ſquadron now cruizing off Louiſbourgh, from whom we have advice, that they had fell in with a French 50 gun ſhip, called the Rainbow, off Louiſbourgh, to whom the Litchfield gave chace, and, after a kind of a running engagement of near 7 glaſſes, ſhe was obliged to ſtrike. We hear ſhe had on board upwards of 600 men, about 70 of which were either killed or wounded during the engagement, without the loſs of one man to the Litchfield: And on tueſday laſt the Rainbow arrived here in a very ſhattered condition.

Capt. Rous alſo fell in with a French ſtore-ſhip off Louiſbourg, which he took after a ſhort engagement; her cargo, we hear, conſiſts of 800 barrels of powder, 20 odd cannon, 32 pounders, and 2 braſs 13-inch mortars, briſtles, ball, ſhells, and other warlike ſtores, and a quantity of brandy, wine, &c.

Halifax, July 10. We hear that commodore Spry, a little before the taking the 2 prizes before mentioned, taking the advantage of a good opportunity, with the ſquadron under his command, thought fit to pay our neighbours at Louiſbourg a viſit with his French colours flying, which mightily pleaſed the monſieurs, they expecting it had been their fleet: Their ſigns of joy were plain enough to be perceived by the diſplay of their colours, and other tokens of ſatisfaction. The commodore went ſo near as plainly to perceive, by the help of glaſſes, numbers of people upon the ramparts looking out to ſee them: but their hopes being thus raiſed were as ſoon diſappointed, when they ſaw them put about and ſtrike their colours, at the ſame time hoiſting Engliſh: This put them into great confuſion, which was plainly ſeen by their running about upon the ramparts, ſtriking their colours, and firing ſome ſhot after them, which however falling ſhort, the commodore with his ſquadron return'd ſafe to his ſtation.

We hear there were at that time but two men of war in that harbour.

Boſton, July 26. By the arrival of a courier from Albany, we are informed, that the provincial army, commanded by general Wincſlow, decamped from Half Moon the 15th inſtant, and had marched to fort Hardy by the 18th, the great number of waggons, carts, &c. which carried the artillery, proviſions, &c. obliging them to make eaſy marches: The army is to encamp a few days between the forts Edward and William Henry, to favour the conveyance of proviſions, &c to the lake; when this is effected they will proceed immediately upon action; 2000 regular troops are following them, to take poſſeſſion of the forts and paſſes that our people leave. A communication is to be kept open between them, that our provincials may receive their aſſiſtance if neceſſary. Our army now conſiſts of upwards of 20000 effective men, excluſive of the regulars.—A perfect harmony at preſent prevails, and we doubt not the wiſe and prudent behaviour of the Britiſh officers will gain the affections of the Americans, and greatly promote the common cauſe—the preſent plan of operations is generally approved—with our united ſtrength to act on the ſide of Crown-Point. If that fort, and the paſs of Ticonderoga is gained, a paſſage is gained into the heart of Canada—the conduct of the enemy laſt year, ſhew the ſenſe they have of the importance of the paſs—Frontenac and Niagara were neglected, tho' very few forces were ſent thither, while baron Dieſkau and the main body of regulars, Canadians and Indians were turned this way—If we ſucceed, the communication with the great lakes may be cut off. Du Queſne, Niagara and Frontenac falls of courſe, and thoſe waters may then be effectually ſecured to us, and the Indian trade which flows thro' them—Our proſpect is favourable—the enemy not ſo numerous as expected, many of their Indians carried off by the ſmall-pox laſt year—but two battalions of regulars yet arriv'd—the intelligence to be gained by the brave capt. Rogers to be depended upon—An open war will now allow us full ſcope—but, favourable as the preſent appearances are, the ſcene may ſoon be changed—and nothing can inſure us ſucceſs, but that divine aid which we have been in a public and ſolemn manner imploring.

By the captain of a ſcouting party of ours we find, that the French have at their camp at Ticonderoga (called by them fort Carolong), 330 tents, 70 log-houſes, forces at that place and Crown Point 3000, and more expected. This was not Rogers's party.

Albany, July 28. Seven of our burgher's lads are gone out (at their own expence) with 20 Mohawks, on the ſcalping deſign, and to make diſcoveries: As are alſo 50 of our Highlanders, who went voluntarily, with only a guide to conduct them thro' the country. And the famous capt. Rogers is to have a commiſſion and money given him to raiſe a company of rangers equal to his father's.

SUPPLEMENT To, the

SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette:

SEPTEMBER 9, 1756. [Numb. 1159.]

NEW-YORK, August 2.

ON thurſday laſt the right hon. the earl of Loudoun, together with the gentlemen that accompanied him, arrived ſafe at Albany, and was receiv'd with all the honours due to his rank.

Boſton, Aug. 2. The following extract of a letter from fort Edward, dated July 29, was received by laſt ſaturday's courier, viz. General Winſlow, with the chief part of the army, arrived here the 20th, with the artillery, &c. and the next day ſet out for the lake: Col. Ruggles with his regiment ſets out for the lake to-morrow. Yeſterday 3 deſerters came to fort Miller, with their guns clubbed, for protection, and ſaid 16 more were determined to do the ſame; they ſay that garriſon [Corolong] is in a miſerable condition; that they have the ſmall pox there, and that there is but 14 pieces of cannon, chiefly ſmall.

New York, Aug. 9. Since our laſt the French ſhip brought in by the Nightingale man of war has been condemned, and her cargo ſelling off every day.

Albany, Aug. 2. The following is the declaration of Michael Grenlief, one of the French priſoners bro't here the 22d ult. by capt. Robert Rogers, viz.

He ſays, "that he never was in the French king's ſervice as a ſoldier; that he is a farmer, and was preſs'd to tranſport proviſions between St. John's and Ticonderoga, for which he was to have 12 livres per trip —That he never was at Crown-Point, and was but 8 days from Chamle (his native place) before he was taken.—That at Chamle there were 500 regulars and 200 militia, ready to put off for Ticonderoga.—That 2 days before he left St. John's, he was told of the ſafe arrival of a general and 2 regiments at Montreal, but was not told the general's name —That they had no certain intelligence in Canada that the Engliſh deſigned to attack Crown-Point, they only expecting it.—That there was great ſtore of proviſion at Chamle, and about 50 boats ready loaded at St. John's bound to Crown Point.—That he met 30 boats the night he was returning from Crown Point; and that great numbers in Canada have died of the ſmall pox —That 2 canows with 20 Indians and 3 Frenchmen, 1 a linguiſter, ſet out the day before he did, in order to harraſs our convoys.—That the French give the Indians 60 livres for an Engliſh ſcalp, and 50 French crowns for a priſoner —That they underſtood at Canada, the Engliſh had a fleet of ſhips cruizing at the mouth of the St. Lawrence; and that their whole force was to bend towards Crown-Point and Ticonderoga."

The other ſeven priſoners taken by capt. Rogers, give much the ſame information.

The 3 French deſerters that came in to fort Miller ſay, that 3500 men are at the Narrows, [Note, Ticonderoga, Carolong, and the Narrows, are one and the ſame place] many of them ſickly, but few at Crown-Point, and 1500 regulars, who arrived this ſummer, at Montreal, with M. Monca'me the new general.

The 26th of July, about 200 French and Indians, fired at the waggoners within 200 yards of fort William Henry, killed 2, and wounded 4; the waggon guard returned their fire, and capt. Lotteridge of the York forces, with 12 men only, ſurrounding the rear of the enemy, fired upon them, upon which they fled, and left 24 knapſacks and 12 guns behind them, capt. Lotteridge was ſhot thro' the hat and coat.

Letter from the German Flats, July 28.

"I have but juſt time to acquaint you, that one Conner, who has been to Quadraque, as a ſpy, is juſt now arrived here with the greateſt diſpatch from Oſwego: He ſays, that there are a body of French encamped within a mile and quarter of Quadraque, conſiſting of about 1600 men, who are to come againſt Oſwego. I can ſay nothing more at preſent than that the commanding officer at Oſwego is prepared for them, come when they pleaſe."

Philadelphia, Auguſt 12. Capt. Reach, who left Plymouth the 29th of June, in company with a number of tranſports, with 5 regiments on board for Gibraltar, under convoy of 3 ſhips of war of 60, 40 and 20 guns, gives us the following agreeable intelligence, viz. that that day he heard a letter read at Plymouth, from an officer on board admiral Byng's fleet, to his father there, adviſing, that they had met with the French fleet, and engaged them 'till night came on, when he landed the men he had on board for Minorca, then came out again, and engaged Galiſſoniere a ſecond time; in which engagement he ſhattered his ſhips ſo much, that they were all obliged to run for it, ſome into Carthagena, and others into Toulon, &c. and that Byng was lying off Toulon, with 21 men of war, to prevent ſuccours being ſent to the French army at Port-Mahon.

On the 2d inſt. in lat. 36: 30, long 64: 10, he ſpoke with the Hynd man of war, bound to England from Jamaica, on board which is admiral Knowles.

Capt. Reach ſays further, that the Royal George, of 112 guns, ſailed for the Mediterranean at the ſame time with the Gibraltar fleet: That the Engliſh were in high ſpirits: And that every county in England had offered to build a veſſel of war for his majeſty, at its own expence; and that ſeveral of them were actually on the ſtocks.

New York, Aug. 16. The hon. William Denny, Eſq; lieut. governor of Pennſylvania, landed here yeſterday from on board the Stirling-Caſtle.

They write from Halifax, that the Mermaid and Garland men of war, had run a French 36-gun ſhip aſhore a little to the eaſtward, on the 18th of July; but, that the Frenchmen having got ſome of her guns aſhore, had erected a battery, and kept the boats off.

The ſloop Hardy, capt. Grantham; the ſnow earl of Loudoun, capt Waynman; the ſloop Mary, capt. Pell; the ſloop Bradſtreet, capt Bicker; and ſloop Goldfinch, capt. Randell, (privateers), are already ſail'd from hence to cruize againſt his majeſty's enemies. And, the brig Prince George, capt. King; the ſloop Harlequin, capt. Fenton; the brigt. Polly, capt. Grigg; and ſchooner Margaret, capt. Miller, are fitting out with all expedition

Albany, Aug. 12. This day major-general Webb, col. Gage, and ſeveral other officers, ſet off from Saratoga for Oſwego; from which poſt we have nothing of importance at preſent to communicate, ſave the veſſels being out on a cruize.

At Montreal there certainly is, we learn by our laſt intelligence, 1000 Canadians and 400 regulars, ready to march either towards Oſwego, or to reinforce the Narrows, their commandants not having then determined whither to incline.

Boſton, Auguſt 17. The 31ſt of laſt month a brig and ſloop, and 2 ſchooners, French prizes, taken by commodore Holmes's ſquadron, arrived at Halifax.

Notwithſtanding the report we the middle of laſt week had, that the French had taken poſſeſſion of fort St. Philip, capt. Binney, who arrived here on friday laſt from Liſbon, ſays, that the fort was ſtill in the hands of the Engliſh the 2d of June, and all in high ſpirits.

Extract of a letter from Halifax, dated the 3d inſt.

"A French 84 gun ſhip, a 64, a 44 and a 36, came to Louiſbourg a few days ago, and the next morning came out and attack'd the Grafton of 74, the Nottingham of 60, and the Jamaica ſloop of 14 guns.

guns. They were engaged 7 hours, and the French tacked about and ran into the harbour. Away went the Grafton and the 2 others after them, and lay too for 2 hours at the mouth of it, to see if they would come out a 2d time, to get a 2d part of the same tune," as commodore Holmes stiles it. A 42 pounder went thro' his main-mast; he had 5 men killed and 40 wounded. He staid there 3 days, to see if they would chuse to repeat the dose; but finding they did not, he sailed away, and is now in here to refit; and the Forgeux, Centurion, Litchfield, and Norwich, are going out to take the station. This affair will gain commodore Holmes great honour and applause. The 84 gun ship and the 40 attacked him, the 64 capt. Marshal; and the 36 capt. Hood. This, I think, is as I heard capt. Holmes tell the story himself, therefore it is to be depended on."

Beside the above, we learn, that the first broadside commodore Holmes carried away the French 84 gun ship's rudder, which disabled her; and also, that he killed them a great number of men.

Another letter, after mentioning the above, says,

That commodore Holmes followed the French ships as near the harbour of Louisbourg as he tho't prudent, and then lined his masts and shrouds, and gave them 3 cheers.

Yesterday put in here, being bound for New-York, a ship in 8 weeks from the North of Scotland, with 170 German soldiers on board, for the Royal American regiment, now raising in Pennsylvania, &c.

New York, Aug. 23 Monday and tuesday last 12 transport ships came up here from Sandy hook, where they arrived the saturday night before, under convoy of his majesty's ship the Stirling-Castle, capt. Cornish; having on board about 900 men, including a number of officers, and some private men for the Royal American regiment, a very compleat train of artillery, besides the tents and arms belonging to lord John Murray's regiment, and a vast quantity of all kinds of warlike stores.

The money brought by the Stirling Castle, amounting to 115 000 l. sterling, in gold and silver, was landed here on wednesday last, and filled 24 carts.

Thursday morning capt. Galbraith arrived here from Glasgow, with about 200 Highlanders for lord John Murray's regiment: He sail'd from thence the 12th of June, in company with 6 others, also bound here with Highlanders, who were convoyed part of the way by a bomb ketch.

Capt. Ferguson, one of the same fleet, came up on friday.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at the Oneida Carrying place, dated Aug. 1.

— "We have no news here at present, save what an Indian who is come from Onondago affords us, which is, that in the late engagement col. Bradstreet had with the French and Indians the commander of the French fort lately built near Oswego, was killed, together with 5 other officers, 20 Frenchmen, about 10 Indians, and near 100 wounded. He further says that some of the chiefs of the Ottawawas seem to be at a stand, whether to fight with the French, or come over to the English.

Albany, Aug. 19 About 3 o'clock this morning, came to town Sir William Johnson, Bart. with 2 Indians, by whom we have advice, that a large army of French and Indians were arrived at Oswego, in order to lay siege to that garison.

We are in hopes, that general Abercrombie's regiment, and the batteaumen in company, will arrive at Oswego time enough to frustrate any attempts the French may make there, as we this day hear they are all at the great Carrying-place.

We've just received an account from lake George, that 2 of our River Indians have killed and scalped 2 French officers, and are now on their way hither.

Philadelphia, August 26. We hear from New-York, that capt. Cornish, of the Stirling Castle man of war, has brought the following advices, viz. That on the 21st of June, being off the Start, an Officer from the Terrible, a 70 gun ship, belonging to admiral Boscawen's squadron, came on board him, and informed, that the said squadron, cruizing off of Brest, consisted of 15 sail of the line, 2 50 gun ships included; that they were all pretty healthy; that commodore Keppel, in the Torbay, of 70 guns, was hourly expected; that the Medway, capt. Dennis, of 60 guns, was ready to join the admiral; and that it was expected the Norwalk, of 80, and the Edinburgh, of 70 guns, would likewise join him soon. That the French had 15 ships of the line at Brest, and at Rochefort 6 sail of men of war, 3 of which of the line; and that it was said they had received sailing orders. That no French privateers had been heard of in the channel, they not having sailors to man them, all hands being wanted for their ships of war. On the 23d of June capt. Cornish spoke with admiral Boscawen, but heard no news.

On Friday last the hon. WILLIAM DENNY, Esq; our new governor, arrived here from New-York and was received in such a manner as could most testify the satisfaction and joy of the inhabitants.

On monday last the embargo was taken off here.

The same day the privateer Derby, captain Steel, fell down the river, in order to proceed on a cruize against his majesty's enemies.

Extract of a Letter from Antigua, July 23. 1756.

"By a gentleman just arrived from Gibraltar, we have the following pleasing account, viz. That on the 28th of May last, the English fleet, under the command of the admirals Byng and West, consisting of 12 sail of the line, and 5 frigates, met with and engaged the French fleet, whose force amounted to 17 ships of the line, and 7 frigates, from 36 to 40 guns each. The engagement was bloody and desperate for 8 hours. The Buckingham, a 60 gun ship, was sunk, on board of which was admiral West; and several other English ships have suffered greatly, especially in their masts, yards and rigging. The French had 3 line of battle ships sunk, and 3 taken; their whole fleet dispersed, and what escaped were mostly ruined, and with great difficulty got into different ports in the Mediterranean. Byng still keeps the sea. The French affairs by land in Minorca seem to be also in a very bad condition, having lost near 10 000 men, general Blakeney disconcerting all their measures, and being before hand with them in almost every thing. He blew up all the roads, and even burnt up the grass and pasturage all over the island. This account arrived here about an hour ago, and and there is no question made of the truth of it. We have had several Dutch and French accounts of this action, all agreeing that the English had the advantage; but we could not depend on any of their accounts before this gentleman arrived, who spoke with several of the French prisoners on board the express sent to Gibraltar."

CHARLES-TOWN, Sept. 9.

The French (who in all Parts of America, as well as in other Places, have ever been troublesome Neighbours, and are always indefatigable in promoting Discord, Rebellions, &c.) having, for some Time past, been so extremely active, in their favourite Way, among the Creek Indians, (who are a very warlike People, and love Action), that we have some Reason to fear the Minds of many of them may have been debauched; and it being always, more particularly at this critical Juncture, a Point of the highest Concern, carefully to cultivate and preserve the Friendship of all Indians whatever (as some of our Northern Neighbours have been lately taught at a very dear Rate): In order to point out to the deluded People in that Nation their true Interest, to brighten the Chain between us and them, and to counteract, or rather, defeat the innumerable Artifices and Stratagems constantly practising upon them by the French, to seduce them from their Attachment to the English, we hear, this Government has resolved upon the Appointment of an Agent, to reside in that Nation. A Measure, which, it is not doubted, will give a Satisfaction to the Inhabitants of this Province, equal to its Importance; especially, as it seems long since to have been thought a necessary one, and the Gentleman (Daniel Pepper, Esq;) who, it is said, is, or will be appointed, is allowed to have a thoro' Knowledge ledge of our Indian Affairs, and to be every Way properly qualified to execute the important Commiſſion wherewith he will be charged, which may be facilitated by being his perſonally known to thoſe Indians.

On Tueſday laſt arrived an Expreſs from the Cherokees, adviſing, that all our People were well there, in good Spirits, and going upon the Buſineſs they had in Hand, with all the Diſpatch poſſible. And, that the Little Carpenter, with a great Number of other Headmen of the Cherokee's, will ſoon be in Town on a Viſit to our new Governor; which will probably, for ſome Days, retard His Excellency's intended Journey to review the Militia in the ſeveral Parts of this Province.

Capt. Barnes from Philadelphia, Capt. Mace from New York, and private Letters by both, mention a Report of Oſwego's having fallen into the Hands of the French; but as it ſeems to have no better Foundation than ſome Albany men's Whiſpers, we ſhall ſet it down among the many Articles that want Confirmation, which may it ever want.

Since our laſt, Four more Creek Indians have come to Town, for little elſe than to ſee His Excellency our new Governor.

On the 29th ult. died, Mrs. Anne Dupont, aged 81 Years, of which ſhe had lived 68 in this Province, free from any Manner of Sickneſs (except what attends Child-bearing) 'till within 3 or 4 Years paſt; and walk'd about, and dined with the Family, the Day before ſhe died.

The Northern Poſt is juſt come in, and has brought ſeveral Letters that came by the Packet-Boat to New-York, but no News.
